About Traverse Bay Area Intermediate School District

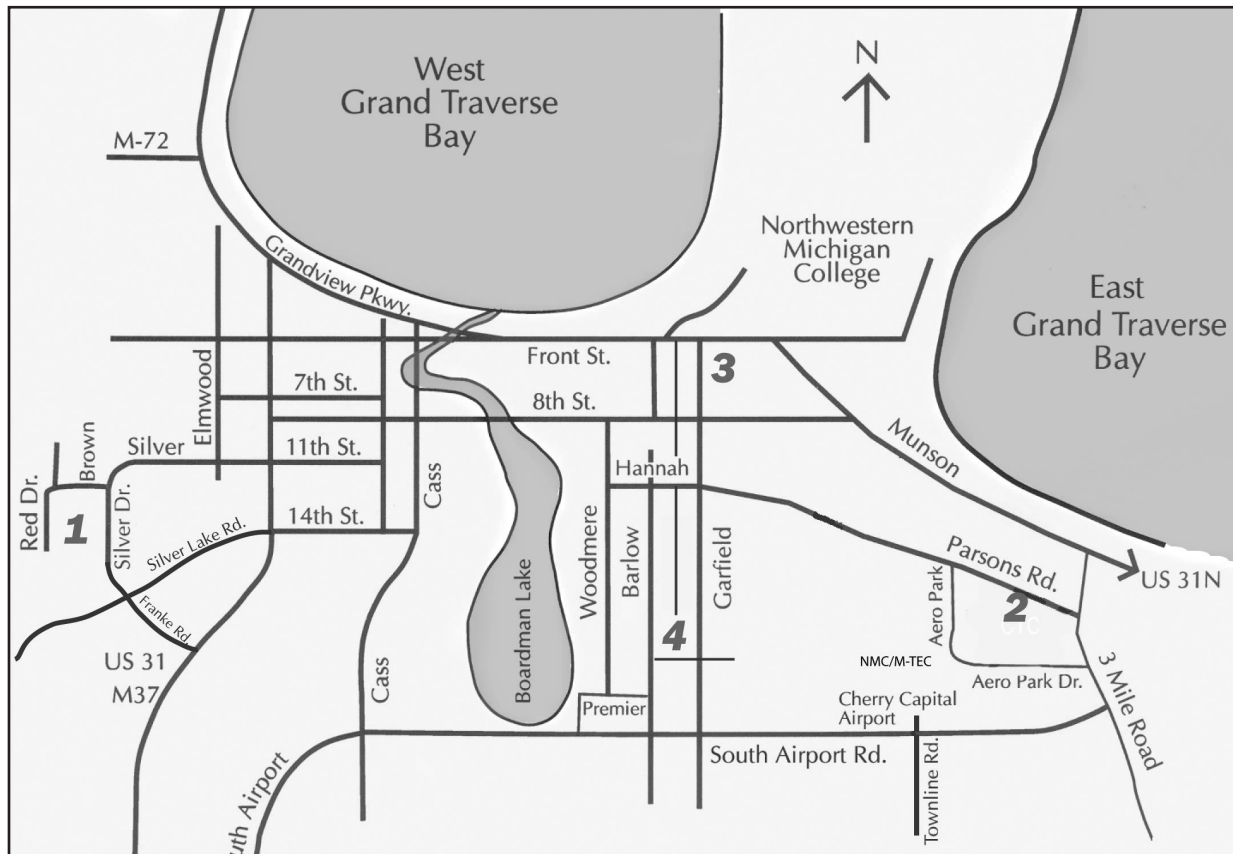

Traverse Bay Area Intermediate School District (TBAISD) is one of 56 such entities in Michigan. When ISDs were established in 1964, the term “intermediate” was selected to represent the organizations’ links between local school districts and Michigan Department of Education.

TBAISD’s service area encompasses the five counties of Antrim, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, and Leelanau. It is committed to continually seeking the most effective ways to assist its sixteen public school districts, public school academies, private and parochial schools, and community college by delivering quality education opportunities for all students.

TBAISD key roles include:

- Fostering regional cooperation
- Identifying common needs for districts throughout the region
- Sharing best practices
- Developing programs and resources that move northern Michigan schools and citizens into the future

With a commitment to collaboration, TBAISD maintains a regional focus. Cooperation between local school districts, communities, human service agencies, and area businesses and organizations is critical to promoting educational quality and cost effectiveness.

The Six Characteristics of Highly Successful Schools

All teachers engaged across time in collaborative teams oriented around the fundamental questions of:

- What do we expect all students to learn?
- How will we know they've learned it?
- Which instructional/assessment practices work best?
- What will we do to support students that aren't learning it?
